System architecture

Where CPDPM sits, what each module does, and which side of the trust boundary every component lives on.

Everything below the boundary is data the application reads back and verifies. Nothing below it can decrypt, and nothing below it can be made to decrypt in the wrong place.